You're Accepted: A Stress-Free and Proven Approach to Getting into College Katie Malachuk
One of the country's top admissions consultants offers a refreshing overhaul to how students and parents think about senior year.

"This should be required reading for every high school student (and their parents) before they begin the college application process."

"Amid the chaos of college admissions, Malachuk provides a refreshing step-by-step guide on how to maintain a sense of self in the process - the key to getting into the right college for you." - Kathleen Kingsbury, Time and Daily Beast contributor - Daniel J. Saracino, Assistant Provost for Enrollment, University of Notre Dame

College admissions expert Katie Malachuk addresses myths and facts about applying to college, giving readers a fresh perspective on the process. Malachuk shows students how to explore their talents and values, and demonstrate unique offerings to admissions committees. Students will learn how to make themselves more attractive candidates, narrow lists of potential colleges, maximize effects of essays, and seek out mentors for guidance and recommendations. In addition, applicants will find ways to alleviate stress by applying lessons of self-reflection and focus in order to stay well-balanced.
