In the beginning God created all living things on earth and he gave each it’s color as not to be superior to another. We do not know why he gave each thing it’s specific color, but I believe he gave each thing it’s color for a reason to camouflage or protect it from danger in his own grand wisdom. The color of black and white are present in most species; in some instances black and white are given to them. The color of being black is not a curse and that’s a fact.

However, each author may say his or her writing is inspired by God. It is up to the reader to accept or reject that concept to be believable or just a fictitious creation of his or her work. This book’s purpose is to inform and educate people of the World on how evolution might have really began and evolved into the World of today. Once the facts are presented in an intelligent and intellectual manner to fully understand how exploitation and manipulation were inflicted upon humans; I believe a person will scrutinize any and everything that is printed and digest it with an open mine to challenge or accept it as the truth or a lie.

One of the greatest thing God gave us was the freedom of thought to accept or un-accept any condition or belief one may fine himself or herself in. There are two things that hold steadfast, they are the truth or a lie. The fact can’t be both. The fact has to be one or the other. No matter how you try to force a person to believe one way or the other. There still is only true or false statement, not half true or half false. Like Jesus, he wanted to know the truth. When he told the truth he was crucified by his own people. Most people are afraid of the truth. They only want to know what they believe to be true.

This book is simply the effort of one Black man’s long yearning to write history in a non-bias way about the Black race and recognize what Blacks had to suffer down through history living with "The Cursed for Being Black" stigma. However, Black Americans endured that stigma for centuries echoing the slogan: "We Shall overcome I truly believe we shall overcome." That meaning finally became a reality when President Lyndon Baines Johnson signed the Civil Rights Act of 1964 into Law.
