Outlines of Geologic History With Especial Reference to North America (Classic Reprint) American Association For The Advancement Of Science
The essays in this volume were presented before Section E, of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, at the meeting in Baltimore in December, 1908. The original plan of the papers involved the formulation of the principles of correlation, as applied to the formations of diflferent periods. This plan was conceived by Bailey Willis, then vice-president of Section E, and was carried out with much success. The several chapters have appeared in the Journal of Geology, since their presentation at Baltimore. They present in broad outlines a summary of certain phases of existing knowledge of North American geology, and are now bound together in the belief that students of geology in this country and abroad will welcome them in this more convenient form. The paleogeographic maps by Mr. Willis form a valuable part of the volume.
